Post-Gatty Plane at Berlin on World Speed Flight

Record Set By Two Fliers On First Stage Of World Air Race

Post and Gatty Drop Down at Berlin Slightly Less Than One Day After Hopping Off from Harbor Grace on Flight Designed to Break All Records for Round-the-world Travel and Pausing at Field in England.

Berlin, June 24.—Wiley Post and Harold Gatty, round-the-world fliers, completed the first lap of their world-girdling flight at 8.30 p.m. to-day (11.30 a.m. Victoria time). They landed at the Tempelhof airfield after making stops at Chester, Eng., and Hanover, Germany.

The plane left Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, at 12.23 p.m. yesterday, Victoria time.

Hanover, Germany, June 24.—Wiley Post and Harold Gatty landed here from Chester, England, late this afternoon, refueled their plane and left for Berlin an hour later.

PAUSE IN ENGLAND

Chester, Eng., June 24.—Wiley Post and Harold Gatty, "two young men in a hurry" on a flight around the world, landed safely at the Sealand Royal Air Force airfield near here this morning after a flight across the Atlantic, ate a meal and hopped off for Moscow by way of Berlin.

"Bollo-Engel, we have done it," said Gatty, when their machine came to a standstill after a flight of a little over sixteen hours.

As soon as the identification numbers of the machine had been checked, Royal Air Force pilots and the ground staff rushed from the hangar to greet the fliers, who had nonchalantly left New York City yesterday, barely turned around at Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, and then hopped over the Atlantic.

THEIR ROUTE
Post and Gatty hope to make a 16,000-mile circuit of the world in ten days, their route and the distance to each jump being: New York to Harbor Grace 1,100 miles; Harbor Grace to England and thence to Berlin 2,900 miles; Berlin to Moscow 925 miles; Moscow to Irkutsk 2,600 miles; Irkutsk to Khabarovsk or Yakuta 1,100 miles; Khabarovsk to Nome 2,300 miles; Nome to Edmonton 1,900 miles; Edmonton to New York (by way of Cleveland) 2,000 miles.

The plane, Winnie Mae, is named for a daughter of F. C. Hall of Crickasha, Okla., oil operator, who is financing the venture.

When they left here the airmen had about 700 miles to make before sighting the Tempelhof airfield at Berlin. The fliers took off from Harbor Grace yesterday afternoon and landed at the Sealand airfield, six miles from Chester, at 11.45 a.m. (8.45 a.m. Victoria time). They took off for Berlin, which originally they had planned to make on a non-stop flight from Harbor Grace at 2.05 p.m. (6.05 a.m. Victoria time).

SURPRISED FIELD MEN
The arrival of the United States airmen was a surprise to the personnel of the Sealand airfield. No word had been received of their near approach except an unconfirmed report that their plane had been seen over Bangor, Wales, turning eastward after circling the town twice.

They still had some gasoline in their plane's tanks, but refused before STAND STRAIN WELL.

The crew of the Winnie Mae looked none the worse for the long flight across the Atlantic. The two took a turn around the airfield to stretch their legs, ate a meal, obtained water.

B.C. MEMBERS TELL COMMONS AID TO FISHERMEN IS NEEDED

Ottawa, June 24.—Difficulties Canadian fishermen suffer on the British Columbia coast in competing with United States fishing fleets were brought to the attention of the Commons yesterday evening on motion to go into supply.

Although the Canadians paid much higher prices for gasoline lines and nets, said Olof Hanson, Liberal, Skeena, their competitors from Seattle were able to fish on the same banks, bring their catches into Prince Rupert, and ship them in bond into the United States without paying the United States import duty.

He suggested the government either should subsidize the halibut and salmon industry 2 cents a pound, the amount of the United States duty, or enter into negotiations through the Canadian Minister at Washington to have the duty removed.

BOATS TIED UP
So trying was the situation, said A. W. Neil, Independent, Comox-Alberni, that Canadian halibut fishermen in many cases were tying up their boats.

Word Awaited From the Hillig Atlantic Plane

Weather Favorable For Fast Crossing By Second of Season's Ocean Planes

Harbor Grace, Nfld., June 24.—With news received of the landing of the Post-Gatty plane at the Sealand field near Chester, Eng., and its hop-off for Germany on its round-the-world speed journey, word was awaited of the progress of Otto Hillig and Holger Hoiriss, sound for Copenhagen, Denmark, by plane. They were the second to hop-off for transatlantic attempts, and weather indications were that they were having a smooth voyage.

STARTED AT 3.51 A.M.
Harbor Grace, Nfld., June 24.—Otto Hillig and Holger Hoiriss took off shortly after daybreak to-day on their transatlantic "joy ride" to Copenhagen, Denmark.

Their monoplane, the Liberty, roared down the flying field runway at 3.51 a.m. Newfoundland summer time (12.24 a.m. Victoria time), swept gracefully into the air on a heaving west wind and headed into the rising sun. The fliers had arrived at the airport twenty-five minutes before the take-off. Their plane was being warmed up as they rode on the field and a few minor details were taken care of while they waited for daybreak and the freshening wind.

Hillig and Hoiriss were about to climb into the plane. The crowd had already begun to wave good-bye. The start was delayed several minutes, however, while a taxicab was dispatched to the fliers' hotel to bring them their baggage. "The contents of the package were not made known."

With everything finally packed safely in the monoplane's cabin, the two (Concluded on Page 2)

MUSSOLINI SAYS CHURCH CLUBS ANTI-FASCIST

Rome, June 23.—Premier Mussolini took a firm stand against the Catholic Action clubs in the Italian reply, delivered at the Vatican to-day, to the recent note from the Holy See.

The Premier insisted, it was learned on excellent authority, that the dissolved clubs were anti-Fascist and illegal, and he saw "no reason to renew discussions on measures taken against the juvenile association."

LAWYER SCORES QUESTIONING OF CHINESE GIRL

"It Looks as if They Were Giving Her Third Degree," Says Judge

Counsel Complains of Immigration Methods in Chinese Case

Charges that Canadian immigration inspectors have been using the "third degree" on persons who come before them were made to Mr. Justice Gregory in the Supreme Court here to-day by C. H. O'Halloran, counsel, in the second day's hearing of the habeas corpus application for the admission to Canada of Jung Suey Mee, a young Chinese girl, who claims she was born at Union B.C., and was taken to China as a child.

Immigration officials declared she was not Jung, but Choy Hung Tin, and was seeking to use Jung's passport.

Mr. O'Halloran said the whole examination proceedings at the Immigration Detention Shed here were improper.

"Inspector Hart, who came here from Ottawa as interpreter, had no power to examine witnesses," Mr. O'Halloran said. "Who ever heard of an interpreter conducting an examination himself, and yet this is what was going on with persons who are not fully cognizant of our language."

"We have in this case an interpreter acting as prosecutor and judge as well. That was used during the examination," Mr. O'Halloran then read transcripts of the evidence taken at the Immigration Shed to support his charges. He alleged the transcripts showed the girl day after day, and sometimes twice a day, was called up and put through an examination by inspectors asking the same questions over and over again.

"It looks as if they were giving her the third degree," said Mr. Justice Gregory.

"They were so working on the mind of the person examined that the person will believe the suggestions made and finally break down," Mr. O'Halloran said.

Mr. Bainbridge carried with him the sincere wishes of officers and employees of the company who hope he will be spared many years in which to enjoy leisure.

France Sending Reply to U.S. On Debt Holiday

Text of Statement on One-year Moratorium Plan Will Be Published Friday

Reported Paris Wants $153,000,000 Turned Over to Settlements Bank

Paris, June 24.—The French reply to President Hoover's proposal for a year's suspension of war debts payments and reparations was handed to the United States Ambassador here by Premier Laval this afternoon.

The French Government transmitted the text of the reply this afternoon to Ambassador Claudet at Washington, who was expected to turn it over to the State Department late today. It will be made public on Friday.

According to usually well-informed quarters in France, the French reply agreed with President Hoover that something must be done to aid Germany and thus Europe, but disagreed with the President's plan of carrying out the proposal.

CONDITIONS REPORTED
Paris, June 24.—The newspaper Intransigent to-day gave the following as the main points of the French reply to President Hoover's war debts and reparations one-year holiday plan:

1. Respect for the frame of the Young Plan and return to that plan after the moratorium.

2. Respect for the unconditional annuities. France proposes the $12,000,000 gold marks (about $18,000,000) so represented be put at the disposal of the Bank for International Settlements.

CLEARANCE NOT DESIRED
Paris, June 24.—The United States Government informed France the conditions it was expected to attach to its acceptance of the Hoover war debts moratorium proposal probably would not be regarded with favor in Washington. It was learned to-day.

WASHINGTON, June 24.—Secretary of State Stimson in a formal statement to-day said the broad outlines of President Hoover's debt moratorium proposal would not be departed from. The Secretary said substantial headway was being made in diplomatic basis maintained.

New Australia Pact Changes Canada Tariff

Bennett Tells Commons of Cable Exchanges With Southern Dominion

Ottawa, June 24.—The trade agreement with Australia would necessitate a number of changes in the tariff schedules brought down in the budget June 1. Premier Bennett told the Commons this afternoon. This would cause some delay in bringing the budget resolutions before the House. Cable communications had been exchanged between the two governments to-day and it would be necessary to await certain texts from Australia.

Mr. Bennett said the House begin consideration of the individual changes proposed by the budget as soon as possible.

PRAIRIES ASK PARLIAMENT ESTABLISH WHEAT BOARD

Ottawa, June 24.—Wheat was the subject of a conference here to-day between Premier Bennett and representatives of the prairie provinces.

Establishment of a wheat board was urged by representatives of the governments of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba. Dominion assistance in the handling of this year's wheat crop was also sought.

No statement was forthcoming at the conference, but it was understood a further conference would be held, probably later to-day.

Premier J. T. M. Anderson of Saskatchewan and Hon. R. A. Hoey, Manitoba, Minister of Education, represented the prairie provinces.

Western Canada Airways Flying Boats to Land at Float on Inner Harbor; C.P.R. and C.N.R. Co-operate in New Service; Ottawa Dispatch Says Mail Also to be Carried by B.C. Coastal Airways Planes Operating Commercial Service.

Canadian Press

Vancouver, June 24.—Twice-a-day passenger and express service between Vancouver and Victoria will be inaugurated Wednesday, July 1, by the Western Canada Airways Limited, it was announced to-day by Major D. R. MacLaren, British Columbia manager for the company.

The service will receive the co-operation of the Canadian Pacific and the Canadian National Railways, which have a financial interest in Canadian Airways Limited, the parent company. The railways will handle the ticket sales and reservations both in Vancouver and Victoria.

Gordon K. MacKenzie, who has been on the Vancouver-Victoria service for two years, will pilot the Canadian-made Boeing boat which will operate on the run.

TWO ROUND FLIGHTS DAILY
The initial schedule will give two departures from Vancouver daily, at 9 a.m. and 2 p.m., with the return flights starting from Victoria at 10.30 a.m. and 5 p.m. Boeing terminals, at the foot of Cardero Street on Coal Harbor, will be the Vancouver terminal, while the Home Oil float in the Inner Harbor will be the Victoria station.

NEW FLYING BOATS
Two five-passenger flying boats built by the Boeing Aircraft of Canada factory in Vancouver will be used on the service and two others will be available if needed. Major MacLaren himself will pilot the second ship when extra trips are required. Later a second plane may be placed in regular service under another pilot.

The trip across the Gulf of Georgia will require about forty-five minutes. TO CARRY MAIL
The company has entered into a mail carrying agreement with the Post Office Department whereby the latter will rent mail space when required.

A special inauguration flight will be made next Tuesday afternoon. Mayor A. D. Taylor of Vancouver and Mayor Herbert Anson of Victoria, and Col. R. D. Williams, president of the Vancouver Board of Trade, have been invited to be guests on the initial flight.

Canadian Press
Ottawa, June 24.—A mail-carrying agreement by air, linking Vancouver and Victoria, B.C., has been entered into between the Post Office Department and the British Columbia Coastal Airways Company, the service to be inaugurated July 1, according to post office officials here to-day.

No contract has been made, the department merely renting space on a poundage basis when conditions warrant.

The company recently purchased the Alaska-Washington Airways of B.C. Ltd., and is carrying out a schedule of flights between Victoria and Vancouver.

Change of Heart Is Cause of Surprise

Announcement from Vancouver to-day that the Western Canada Airways Ltd., which is linked with the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways, would operate a seaplane service out of the Inner Harbor of Victoria, came as a distinct surprise to local air interests in view of the previous strenuous opposition of railway and steamship interests to the use of the harbor by seaplanes. Since the company apparently has proper sanction for use of the harbor, the matter is regarded as a distinct change of heart on the part of both the railways and the government authorities.

The question of seaplane traffic in the Inner Harbor has been a point of dispute and argument here for more than two years. The history of the matter is linked with the major transportation interests of Canada and the Dominion Government.

When the city first obtained approval from the Department of Marine, based upon the recommendation of the aviation authorities, for use of the Inner Harbor, negotiations were entered into with Edward A. Lowe Jr., president of the Pacific International Airways, for the use of the harbor for the purpose of the local representative.

Shortly afterwards the government rescinded its approval of the harbor site. The argument then shifted to a series of telegrams and letters between this city and Ottawa. E. W. Beatty, K.C., president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railway, informed the City Council and the Chamber of Commerce that their companies were unalterably opposed to use of the harbor by seaplanes, owing to interference with shipping and a refusal to withdraw their opposition.

Service clubs threw their weight behind the two main bodies, and other organizations came to the support of the local groups, demanding the government sanction the use of the harbor for the purpose of the Equilmalt Harbor for the purpose. The Department of National Defence had refused permission to use Equilmalt Harbor, however.

PLUNKETT GETS EQUILMALT
When the city seemed to have been stopped at all angles, the announcement came from Ottawa a few days ago that D. B. Plunkett, M.P. for Victoria, had succeeded in getting the department to withdraw its opposition to Equilmalt Harbor and would permit the operation of planes there.

In view of the announcement to-day, the actions leading up to it are regarded as very conflicting. Local interests have been left wondering if the Inner Harbor will be preserved for the use solely of the line supported by the railways, while all others must use Equilmalt. It is also felt the government can hardly refrain from granting approval to the application of Mr. Lowe for the use of the Inner Harbor.

SURPRISED BY NEWS
"It is surprising news to me after the railways so strenuously objected to the use of the Inner Harbor by seaplanes that they should now propose to use the harbor for their own seaplane service," declared Alderman W. T. Strath, chairman of the industrial committee of the City Council, when informed of the projected service. Mr. Strath was one of the foremost movers in efforts to gain approval of the (Concluded on Page 2)

VANCOUVER FIRE ATTRACTS CROWD

Vancouver, June 24.—A spectacular blaze on the sixth floor of the Copp Building on West Hastings Street here at 1 a.m. today attracted many spectators and caused considerable damage. The firemen, using aerial ladders, had to drag the hose up eighty feet to extinguish the flames, but as the blaze was on the higher floor the flames did not spread. The floor on which the fire started was used for storage purposes by tenants of the building.

climbed aboard and, leaning out of a window, waved a cheery farewell to the small crowd of bystanders.

FUEL LOSS

"They had 3,100 miles to travel before reaching Copenhagen and they expected to make the hop in twenty-eight hours. At the start their monoplane carried 605 gallons of gasoline and twenty gallons of oil, sufficient fuel for thirty-six to forty flying hours.

A gallon of water, a dozen oranges, coffee and bread—plenty to last us till we get there—comprised their provisions.

SOLICITING CASE HEARD

was perfectly good and quoted the Criminal Code to show that, for even a more serious offence, solicitation could be complete "although not reaching the mind of the person who was solicited."

After hearing the argument the magistrate reserved his decision. The proposed amendment before the City Council would definitely ban soliciting "by handbills or word of mouth." The present section merely prevents "soliciting or importuning."

MAY DROP CHARGE

If the court holds that "soliciting or importuning" also covers the distribution of handbills, it is likely the council will not proceed with the amendment.

WESTMINSTER ACT IS BEFORE CANADA'S M.P.'S

Commons Asked to Approve New Law Equality of Empire Nations

Ottawa, Ont., June 24.—A resolution embodying an address to the King setting forth Canada's adherence to the Statute of Westminster has been taken on the order paper of the Commons by Premier Bennett.

The Statute of Westminster, which is an outcome of the Imperial Conference of 1926 and 1930, brings empire legislation into line with the changed status of the various units of the empire.

The address, which, on approval of the resolution, will be forwarded to the King, sets forth the provisions which were agreed on in London and embodied in the Statute of Westminster. The Colonial Laws Validity Act of 1865 will no longer apply to acts of the Dominion Parliaments. It is set forth that laws made by the Dominions shall not be void on the ground that they are repugnant to any law of Great Britain.

The power to enact laws having extra-territorial operation is given to the Dominion Parliaments. It is set forth that laws of Westminster, extend to any Dominion unless that Dominion so requests.

B.N.A. ACT UNCHANGED

The section of the act which has particular application to Canada, and which was drafted following a provincial conference at Ottawa last April, makes it clear nothing in the act shall repeal, amend or alter the British North America Act. "The powers conferred by the Act of Westminster on the Parliament of Canada or the provincial legislatures is restricted to the enactment of laws in relation to matters within their respective competence."

Others were suggesting a ten-day cessation of fishing between each two voyages.

Mr. Neill condemned the Bennett duty on gasoline. That fuel represented about 35 per cent of the cost of fishing operations. Fishermen out of Seattle were able to buy it in the United States for the equivalent of 7.2 cents per Canadian gallon. The duty alone on the gasoline bought in Canada amounted to 8.5 cents.

Mr. Neill read letters from fishermen on the coast asking for removal of the dumping duty on gasoline. That fuel should be made free when used for fishermen for commercial purposes, he said. The communications asserted that next winter the fishermen "would be on the bread line."

Senator Robertson, Minister of Labor, while visiting British Columbia recently, had not conversed with representatives of the fishermen, consequently on his return to Ottawa he would not be well informed on this phase, Mr. Neill declared.

COAL INDUSTRY
The member urged the coal industry also be bonused to a larger extent than proposed in the budget, suggesting 11 per cent. It would have the merit of retaining thousands of miners in their jobs and enabling them to get a decent living.

Following Mr. Neill's remarks, the House went into committee on the estimates of the Secretary of State's Department.

Growers Wine Company Carries on Berry Outlet Research; Plans New Markets

W. G. Murrin, Vancouver, president of the B.C. Electric Railway Limited, was elected president of the Growers' Wine Company at the annual meeting of shareholders held yesterday evening at the wineries, North Quadra Street.

The Growers' Company has been carrying on research to develop new products from loganberries which will help take care of the big surplus production of Island and mainland growers. It was announced by Douglas Kings, retiring president. He explained that no company could start production of a new product until the market for that product was developed.

Mr. Almers said that this year for the first time the company had a surplus of fully matured three-year-old wood wine with which to feed new markets. Next year, if these markets develop, the company will be wanted in increasing production, he declared. Because of general conditions in the prairie markets, production was eased off here. He reported a keen interest in Great Britain in the local wine product.

The directors announced that the full seven per cent dividend on the preferred stock would be paid as always, but that the directors did not recommend the final dividend of two per cent on the common stock was paid at this time, as they considered it wise to conserve the resources of the company. An interim five per cent dividend on the common stock was paid last December.

A vote of full confidence was unanimously passed by the stock holders in W. H. Lamont's management of the company. A vote of regret on the retirement of Mr. Almers from the presidency was also passed.

Directors elected were: Mr. Lamont, A. G. Tanner, R. S. Twining, R. Rowe Holland, Vancouver, and C. L. H. Brownson.

their reports and then, fulfilling their description as "young men in a hurry," climbed aboard their monoplane and set off for Berlin, two hours and twenty minutes after they had set foot in England.

JOY TRIP

As they stepped from their machine to be greeted cordially by the British airman. Post said:

"We had a right good flight—it has been splendid throughout. In truth, it has been a real joy trip and the only difficulty we experienced was over a period of three or four hours during the early stages of the flight when we ran into bad weather. The rest of the journey was enjoyable and the sea was calm. We are now well ahead of our time and are off for Moscow via Berlin."

Declaring they were out to break all records for a flight around the world, Post said they hoped to reach Moscow by tomorrow and that no time could be wasted. If their fuel held out, he added, they might not even halt at Berlin.

The plane was refueled to capacity while they were here.

The fliers were taken to the Royal Air Force mess, where they lunched. When they jumped aboard their plane and rose into the air and sped southward, with them went rounds of cheering and waving from the crowd.

When they landed, they were met by a crowd of people who had flocked there as soon as word of their landing was known.

125 MILES AN HOUR
It was determined the machine had completed its transatlantic crossing at 12:45 a.m. (Victoria time).

Their departure was 21 hours and 20 minutes later. The airman thus completed the 2,000-mile hop in 16 hours and 17 minutes at speed of approximately 125 miles an hour.

The fliers were in the best of spirits and, landing, they made a good landing and their machine appeared none the worse for its ocean crossing. It needed no repairs.

EXPERT PILOT
Post is thirty-two years old. His parents live in Mayville, Ohio. He has a reputation as an expert flier in adverse weather conditions.

Gatty, trained in the Royal Australian Naval College, helped teach Charles A. Lindbergh navigation. He has written several text books on navigation and has a navigation school in Los Angeles. He was with Harold Gatty on the latter's unsuccessful attempt to fly from Japan to Tacoma last summer. He is thirty years of age. Both fliers are married.

LAWYER SCORES QUESTIONING OF CHINESE GIRL

"What is the object of asking the same question a dozen times?" the judge asked, and then himself added: "The object is to react on the nerve of the person being examined."

Lindley Crease, K.C., counsel for the Immigration Department, declared that the only object was to make an inquiry.

"Well, having made an inquiry, why do it again to-day and then to-morrow and then next day?" the judge asked.

"The object is to repeat to the witness an untruth and so work on the mind of the witness that she breaks down," Mr. O'Halloran replied. "And this was so much the worse in this case dealing with a young girl. Dealing with an old lawyer, it might not have much effect."

Mr. O'Halloran addressed the court all morning. The hearing is being continued.

TERMS AND LASHES
Henri Fortier, of Vancouver, convicted of robbing with violence G. C. Johnston, teller of the Bank of Montreal at North Burnaby, April 2, was sentenced to three years and five lashes. His wife broke down when sentence was pronounced, and had to be escorted from the crowded courtroom.

Fortier, armed with a revolver and in company with Thomas Nelson, robbed the bank teller of $1,500 in an attempted hold-up of the bank. Nelson was sentenced to five years after taking a speedy trial.

John D. MacDonald and Edgar A. MacLennan, convicted of the attempted holdup of W. H. Williams, Port Moody mail carrier, September 4 last, were sentenced to five years in the penitentiary, which is the minimum sentence. The judge stated he would have liked to impose lashes if the law had permitted it.

BISHOP SUING HEARST PAPERS

Chicago, June 24.—Bishop James Cannon Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, yesterday named William Randolph Hearst, the Chicago Herald and Examiner and twenty-nine other Hearst newspapers as defendants in a suit for $1,000,000 damages for alleged libel.

The suit was filed in the United States District Court here. The bill said the bishop was libelled in a newspaper account of his marriage last summer to Mrs. Helen Hawley McCallum, and that efforts had been made to destroy his influence as a leader in the prohibition cause.

negotiations to work out the many details which must necessarily be adjusted in so large a subject.

"The President's proposal was drawn on broad lines and the outline of his statement said. 'The object is very clear, namely, the securing of a postponement for one year of the payment of these payments. Those outlines will not be departed from.'

The secretary said substantial headway had been made on the subject, involving so many different debts and nations, there are necessarily many details which must be filled in after careful study and consultations with those nations.

"These conversations must necessarily be carried on through diplomatic channels and not through the press."

ITALY'S ACCEPTANCE
Washington, June 24.—The Italian Embassy here to-day transmitted to the State Department Premier Mussolini's "cordial acceptance in principle" of President Hoover's one-year war debt and reparations moratorium proposal.

NO CONFERENCE
London, June 24.—St. Rt. Philip Snowden, Chancellor of the Exchequer, told the Commons to-day he thought this would be a most undesirable move for Great Britain to take the initiative in calling an international conference to discuss the whole question of international indebtedness.

"We must first of all settle the matter of giving President Hoover's proposal for war debts and reparations suspension practical effect," he said.

"We must first of all settle the matter of giving President Hoover's proposal practical effect," he said. "If others should eventually develop so as to make an international conference desirable, no doubt that will be done."

There would be no effort on the part of the government to shorten debate on budget resolutions or supply. If the House wished to sit for six months, the government was willing to do so.

FULL DEBATE WANTED
The Prime Minister had been leading the House to expect the budget resolutions for a day to-day, declared Mr. King. The country was anxious to have a full discussion of these resolutions.

The country was "getting a little weary" at the repetition by opposition members of speeches on agricultural depression and unemployment. Mr. Bennett said he asserted that during the session motions calling for the production of 400 returns had been placed on the order paper. This was more than twice as many as last year.

The House proceeded with other business.

FARM PLACEMENT LISTS NOT GIVEN TO COMMONS

Ottawa, June 24.—In the Commons this afternoon J. A. Bradette, Liberal, North Temiskaming, Ont., moved for production of papers "in connection with the placing of 7,600 unemployed single men, and also 1,500 families, on the farms of the new companies."

Mr. Bradette also called for the name of each person so placed on farms, the location of farms and conditions and terms of such placements.

In opposition to the motion Premier Bennett declared that to secure the information wanted would require the co-operation of the many companies and several weeks' work would be needed in order to compile the lists.

In addition, he did not think it in the public interest such names should be made public through Parliament.

Mr. Bradette declined to drop the motion and it was taken to a vote being defeated by 87 to 57. The Liberals supported the motion.

Mr. A. M. Carmichael of Kindersley and M. N. Campbell of Mackenzie, voted with the government. The others, along with the Liberals, voted for the motion.

ONTARIO AUTOIST KILLED BY TRAIN

Pembroke, Ont., June 24.—An automobile trip Victor Bonnah, twenty-four, of Ottawa, was making to Chapleau, where he was to act as best man at his uncle's wedding, found its end in death early to-day. Bonnah's light coupe was struck by a C.P.R. express train at a crossing near here and hurled 100 feet, a tangled wreck.

He died two hours later.

Miss Freda McDonnell, a passenger in the car, was still unconscious in the Pembroke hospital eight hours after the accident.

Miss McDonnell, a nurse in training at Ottawa, was en route to this town to attend the funeral of a girl friend. It is feared the head injuries she sustained will prove fatal.

LARGEST FAMILY IN WORLD WANTS MONEY FOR MEALS

Dr. Barnardo's Homes Make Appeal For 400,000 Half-Crowns

Every day in the year Dr. Barnardo's homes have to think about food. Their family numbers 8,200 boys and girls and babies and all of these require three meals a day. Some of them need the extra diet of the invalid child of the young baby. There are about 4,000 boys and girls of school age with the healthy appetite of youth.

In order to supply the meals of this large family, which equals a town in size, the homes are appealing for 400,000 half-crowns as birthday gifts in memory of the late Dr. Barnardo, and to celebrate Founder's Day, June 27, which the president of the homes, H.R.H. The Duke of York, will preside over.

The Barnardo family needs at least 24,000 meals a day; 168,000 meals a week; 8,736,000 meals a year.

Bread is a large item; 1,600 loaves are baked daily by the bakers in the Barnardo bakeries. But this supplies only about three-eighths of the family. Milk is another large item in the daily menu. Over 1,000 gallons per day are required.

Economy is the guiding principle of the homes in all their work. But every mother knows that you cannot economize on the food of children without detriment to their health.

Last year 488,548 half-crowns were sent in by 32,696 generous friends all over the world, and the homes are renewing their appeal this year in the hope that all lovers of little children will send as many or even more half-crowns, for the little children must have bread, and some butter.

The charter of the homes is "No Destitute Child Ever Refused Admission." On an average five children are admitted daily. Under this charter 140,000 children have been admitted, cared for, educated and trained and placed out in the world as A-1 citizens.

Over 30,000 have been sent to the British Dominions, thus helping to people the British Empire overseas with British born. If all the children rescued by Dr. Barnardo's homes were to hold hands they would stretch over eighty miles.

Cheques and orders may be made payable to "Dr. Barnardo's Homes Food Fund," and crossed "Barclay's Bank Limited, account Dr. Barnardo's Homes," and addressed to "Dr. Barnardo's Homes Food Fund, 15-25, Stepney Causeway, London, E.1, England."

Commercial Courses In Alberni District

Special to The Times
Port Alberni, June 24.—Immediate establishment of commercial courses in the Alberni District High School as free electives under the four-year course, was decided upon last week at the regular meeting of the High School Area School Board, and if plans formed by the administration materialize, the high school will next year be offering complete three and four-year courses leading to business diplomas. In view of the fact that the proposed new courses are not to involve any additional expenditure to the ratepayers, all students will have to provide their own typewriters, if they desire to take year from July 2 to July 31.

The contract for building the new playshed on the high school grounds was awarded to J. M. Paul and Stephenson. The grounds are to be completely graded and sown in grass and the inside of the building cleaned. Towards these last two projects the students are expected to contribute the major part of the expense out of the surplus in their council treasury.

A. C. Watson, of the staff of the Port Alberni public school, was authorized to attend the summer camp for cadet instructors to be held at Rodd Hill this year from July 2 to July 31.

PAYMENTS TO EX-PRISONERS OF WAR URGED

Reparations Cases Discussed
By Members of Commons

Canadian Press

Ottawa, June 24.—Payment of reparations came in for a lively discussion in the Commons yesterday evening when the estimates of the Department of the Secretary of States were under review.

Before the last general election a number of reparations claims were in the department. The former government decided it would not be advisable to have a commission hearing evidence on these during the election campaign, and accordingly they were left in abeyance.

Commissioner Errol MacDougall made an interim report and one that the department made payments out of money which were voted a year ago.

Yesterday evening Hon. C. H. Cahan, Secretary of States, was criticized by his predecessor in that office, Hon. Fernand Rinfret, Liberal, St. James, Montreal, on the ground he should not have made the payments until Parliament had considered the report. The money at the disposal of the department was not intended for payment of these cases, but for appeals before the Exchequer Court.

Officers of the department, Mr. Cahan said, had declared the purpose of the money was to pay reparations such as these. The report had been submitted to the House, he contended, about the same time the cheques had gone out. The people had been waiting years already for the money.

FOR EX-PRISONERS OF WAR

An interim report of Commissioner Mac Dougall dealing with his investigation into claims of ex-prisoners of war on account of mal-treatment was asked by Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Liberal, Vancouver Centre. He knew of hundreds of cases in western Canada, and it would be a merciful service to have these awarded and the money paid.

None of the cases affecting former prisoners of war had been decided yet, replied Mr. Cahan.

Major C. G. Fower, Liberal, Quebec South, protested strongly against the Secretary of State requiring more corroboration of the stories told by these soldiers than he would require from civilian claimants.

He was not requiring more extensive corroboration, Mr. Cahan said. On the other hand, he felt it was his duty to confirm stories if he possibly could.

MEASURE FOR BORROWING IS VOTED BY M.P.'S

Ottawa, June 24.—The Commons yesterday gave third reading to the bill authorizing the government to borrow to the extent of $750,000,000.

When the measure was under discussion, Premier Bennett informed the House matutiles during the next few years would amount to over $750,000,000. The former authorization, which had been given by Parliament during the session of 1929 and which amounted to $500,000,000, was now exhausted, and it was considered desirable the government should be placed in a position to take advantage of any opportunities for obtaining money advantageously which might occur.

Mr. Bennett stated the obligations of the Dominion, not provided for in the last Conversion Loan, up to and including the year 1937, would total approximately $817,000,000.

C.N.R. WORKS ARE APPRECIATED BY SASKATCHEWAN

Winnipeg, June 24.—Hon. J. T. M. Anderson, Premier of Saskatchewan, speaking before the Winnipeg Board of Trade at the Fort Garry Hotel, assured Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railways, that he and the great government-owned system over which he presides had the implicit confidence and support of the Saskatchewan Government and the Saskatchewan people.

"It is my privilege this evening," declared Premier Anderson, "to publicly thank Sir Henry and his railroad, on behalf of the people of my province, for the manner in which they have assisted the Saskatchewan Government in providing employment for those in rural districts who have been in want."

"Although economic conditions are at a low ebb through business depression and in spite of crop failures in many parts of western Canada, the farmers and business men of the prairies are carrying on with a typical Canadian fighting spirit. The public-minded men of such great organizations as the Canadian National Railways have provided the encouragement necessary to sustain this invaluable spirit," the Premier added.

NOVA SCOTIA PATRONAGE

Halifax, N.S., June 24.—Patronage is a "curse to all governments and an incurable difficulty," Premier Gordon S. Harrington told a meeting of the Halifax City and County Liberal-Conservative Association yesterday evening.

The association met to iron out the patronage situation and approved a report calling for appointment of a committee of nine to deal with the matter.

NEW BASIS OF TRADE STATED EUROPE'S NEED

Speakers at Rotary International Convention Deal With Economic Subjects

Vienna, June 24.—The present world condition of unemployment is a challenge to the individualistic system of economics, Abraham Frowein, Berlin capitalist and industrial authority, said to-day in an address at the Rotary International convention here on the topic, "International Aspects of Unemployment."

"The unemployment problem to-day," said Mr. Frowein, "may be regarded as a reproach to the dominating economic system, but the safest way out is the maintenance of the individualistic system and the liberation of this system from the influences, from both political and cultural quarters, which have disturbed economic development."

"Socialism has worked like opium on the vast masses of the population and has rendered them passive to the demands and efforts that our life claims. It has been forgotten personality is the surest guarantee for the further development of Europe and of human existence. We have once more need of 'business energy.'"

HARMONY NEEDED

"The survey of the causes of the crisis of a material nature shows they are surmountable. But what is much more important is the spiritual reform, the moral and the acquisition of a firm, moral conviction in mankind which once more leads to harmony between body and soul. The fraternal co-operation in Rotary clubs is a sign there are beginnings which give promise of success."

His address concluded a series of short talks on world problems by some well-known European figures in commerce and statecraft. The man who first conceived the idea of a European federal union, Count Coudenhove-Kalergi of Austria, explained the basis for his proposed "United States of Europe."

"The federation of Europe has become a necessity," he said, "because in its present state of disruption, Europe is menaced by three great dangers—another war, universal misery and Bolshevism. These dangers can only be fought one and all by a system securing the peace and civilization of Europe and at the same time helping to raise the European standard of living. This system is Pan-Europa."

WAR DANGER

"Present European politics are driving toward another world war in which no European state will be able to remain neutral. If the European states do not succeed in uniting before long they will face each other just as the Central Powers and the Entente did in 1914. This new war would mean extermination for the conquered nations and mortal wounds for the victors."

The uneconomic system of internal European customs, which artificially intensifies the contrasts between national interests, is one chief cause for the deplorable economic condition of the European nations, for the misery of the European masses.

"The economic lesson America teaches us is that the combination of high real wages with low prices is possible only on the basis of a large inland market. Only by adopting the same conditions can Europe overcome the misery of the masses, improve the general standard of life and prepare the way to general prosperity."

"Either the Pan-European movement will unite Europe by common sense or else the Third International will unite it by force."

ANARCHY OF PRODUCTION

A general picture of the economic crisis which confronts the world to-day was given by Max Weinmann, silk merchant of Munich, Germany. He ascribed the present depression in trade to an anarchy of production which increased the world's industrial capacity by more than fifty per cent. At the same time, he said, at least 500,000,000 people had been withdrawn from the general world market as consumers, in Russia, in China and India.

"The world must become conscious that the welfare of one nation is inseparable from the welfare of all other nations," Mr. Weinmann said. "Far-reaching international agreements, as to restriction of production and establishment of a balance between supply and demand is necessary. World production will have to be distributed evenly in all markets. It is impossible to allow that Argentina should burn its wheat, being unable to sell it, while millions of people in China starve."

"Gold has to be redistributed accordingly. The fundamental condition is that political peace must precede an economic understanding. Russia is the new enemy of an economic world peace through her policy of dumping."

DR. M'PHERSON HEADS MEDICAL BODY OF B.C.

Victorian Elected President at Association's Convention in Vancouver

Vancouver, June 24.—Dr. Thomas McPherson, of Victoria, was elected president of the British Columbia Medical Association at its annual meeting here yesterday.

The president-elect for 1932 is Dr. W. J. Knox, Kelowna; the honorary secretary-treasurer for the ensuing year is Dr. D. E. H. Cleveland, Vancouver; the executive secretary is C. J. Fletcher, Dr. Douglas Corran, Fernie, is vice-president.

Kelowna was chosen as the 1932 convention city. Serving on the executive of the association for the next year will be Dr. J. M. Fowler, Victoria; Dr. O. W. Sinclair, New Westminster; and Dr. C. S. Williams, Trail.

The annual session was held in conjunction with the convention of the Canadian Medical Association, now in progress here. The annual dinner was held in the evening, the guests including many members of the council of the Dominion-wide organization.

CIVIL SERVICE BILL SHELVED

Ottawa, June 24.—The bill to restrict the preference for returned soldiers in the civil service to ex-service men of the Canadian and British forces now domiciled in Canada was "talked out" in the Commons yesterday evening.

In the only bill discussed during the hour allotted to private members' legislation.

An impassioned plea by Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Liberal, Vancouver Centre, for delay until the veterans had been consulted, particularly since the Canadian Legion was on the eve of its annual convention to be held at Toronto in August, was supported by Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways, and Alfred Speckman, U.F.A., Red Deer.

Metchisin

A. C. McVicker discovered a cougar while feeding his stock. He raised the alarm and summoned neighbors by telephone to join in the hunt. The animal, a large male, was trailed and finally shot before midnight by J. Rainey on the west side of the Kangaroo Road.

The A.Y.F.A. expects those attending the dance and card party arranged for June 30 to take their own cards.

PARTY FROM PORTLAND IS ENTERTAINED

Chamber of Commerce Gives Banquet For Ninety-one Visitors From Oregon

Speaker Sees Ultimate Cancellation of War Debts Through Hoover's Scheme

Victoria's long of friendship was extended across the banquet table to Portland yesterday evening when the Victoria Chamber of Commerce was host to ninety-one members of the Portland Chamber of Commerce and their wives, who arrived in the city early in the afternoon aboard the specially-chartered steamer Princess Norah on their way to Alaska. The visitors had a free day in Victoria and proceeded to Vancouver at mid-night, the banquet in the Chamber of Commerce dining room being much appreciated by the visitors.

R. W. Mayhew, president of the local chamber, was in the chair and welcomed the party. Representing Premier Tolmie, who was unable to be present, Hon. W. A. McKenzie, Minister of Mines, welcomed the visitors to Victoria and British Columbia on behalf of the province. He spoke of the value of such trips in cementing the bonds of friendship between two such great nations as Canada and the United States. He rather envied the visitors the magnificent trip that is in store for them along the British Columbia coast and through the beautiful passage among the islands to Alaska and the Yukon. He spoke of the international caravan of motor cars that last year made the trip over British Columbia's highway into the interior of the province as far as Hazelton. He said such a trip was of great benefit to both countries and that the Portland party is taking a different route into the Northland. Mr. McKenzie hoped its members would derive as much benefit from the trip as he did on the road and that the voyage would help them to see what a great thing a highway from Mexico into Alaska and the Yukon would be for both countries. He hoped the trip would be a profitable one as well as an enjoyable and highly successful one.

FOR MAYOR ANSCOMB

Alderman H. O. Litchfield, speaking on behalf of Mayor Anscomb, who was called away from the city earlier in the day, mentioned the close bond of friendship that has always prevailed between the cities of Portland and Victoria. It was only a few days ago that Victoria's chief magistrate was down in Portland for the Rose Festival and was, significantly, honored by the citizens of that great city on the Columbia. Alderman Litchfield said Victoria and Portland had something in common in that both are well-known as garden cities. He urged both places to cultivate their names along that line.

In a stirring address Rev. Oswald Taylor, pastor of the Grace Memorial Episcopal Church in Portland, told briefly the history of the United States for independence since the famous "Boston tea party" when it decided to break away from England. It was an experiment then and continued such for a long time, he said. Just as President Hoover's plan for a year's breathing spell in war debts is also an experiment, one which, however, he hoped and felt sure, would turn out profitable and successful for all the nations concerned. During the war the United States felt itself one with the Allies, the speaker said, and it is now with the same feeling that the President of the Republic is submitting his scheme to the rest of the world. Mr. Taylor forecast prosperity after the year's breathing spell and ultimately will come the entire cancellation of war debts, he said. He blamed the war for the present trade stagnation, and was confident such a state of affairs will soon be cleared up. He referred to the boundary line between Canada and the United States as only an imaginary one, friendliness and goodwill on both sides tending to wipe it aside.

IMPRESSIVE NORTHWEST

Dr. David B. Steinman, designer of Portland's new bridge across the Columbia, which was opened a few weeks ago, spoke briefly on behalf of the party. He was greatly impressed by the scenic beauty of the Northwest, especially as he went down the Columbia and came up the Strait to Victoria, he said. He had not long been a resident on the Pacific Coast and coming from the East he thrilled to the magnificence and grandeur of that beauty. It was this, he felt sure, that prompted the people of the Northwest to such hospitality to strangers. People along the Pacific, he said, dream dreams and see that they materialize. He said that the scenic beauty also had a great deal to do with this.

L. W. Hartman, president of the Portland Chamber of Commerce, spoke briefly, and said that on the Pacific Victoria is the nearest approach he had ever seen to heaven. He sincerely thanked the local chamber for all its kindness in meeting the steamer and inviting the Portland visitors to such an enjoyable banquet. Repeating, Mr. Mayhew said how delighted the Victoria chamber was to entertain such a body, and hoped that its members would enjoy their trip and visit Victoria again.

A happy feature of the banquet was the presentation to the ladies of corsage bouquets of roses, which they admitted were just as good as those grown in Portland, although the latter city has a continental fame as the "city of roses." Seated at the head table with the speakers were Capt. C. D. Peroutos, B. C. Nicholas, Alderman Worthington, Stewart Williams, Alderman James Adams, J. O. Cameron, Fred McGreor and George I. Warren.

Hotel by the Vancouver Board of Trade and the Publicity Bureau, and this afternoon was taken on a motor drive around the city.

The Princess Charlotte will arrive back in Vancouver July 3 and the party will transfer to the Victoria steamer, spending an hour in this city on the afternoon of that day en route home to Portland.

The visitors reported a fine trip here from Portland by water, a voyage not often made. Off the Columbia River bar, on Monday evening, it was a bit rough, they said, but the Princess Norah rode through the swells beautifully and made a fast trip. Coming under the new St. John's Bridge, not far from Portland, a magnificent bouquet of flowers was dropped on to the deck of the Norah for Mrs. D. B. Steinman, wife of the designer of the bridge, from friends high up on the main span.

DEAD GIRL'S LETTERS GIVEN UP BY DOCTOR

But Step-father of Late Starr
Faithful Brands Them
"Forgeries"

Associated Press

Minneapolis, N.Y., June 24.—A picture of Starr Faithfull's despair just before her death in the surf of Long Beach, L.I., June 8, was unveiled to a Nassau County grand jury yesterday in two letters surrendered to the state by Dr. Jameson Carr, ship's doctor of the liner Franconia.

But Stanley E. Faithfull, stepfather of the dead girl, caused a sensation in the courtroom by denouncing the letters as "forgeries." In a heated interview with District Attorney Elvin Edwards he declared they were not in the handwriting of Starr and were "part of a frame-up to prove she was not murdered."

SUICIDE NOTE
Dr. Carr bore the letters to Minneapolis yesterday, after traveling with them from Liverpool aboard the Laconia.

"It's all up with me now — this is something I am going to put through," one of them said. "The only thing I dread is being prevented from doing this — which is the only thing possible for me to do."

Thus ran the long-awaited "suicide note," and added:
"If one wants to get away with murder one has to jolly well keep one's wits about one. It's the same way with suicide. If I don't watch out I'll wake up in a psychopathic ward, but I intend to watch out and accomplish my end this time."

The prosecutor handed the letters and Starr Faithfull's love diary to the jury, recessed that body until Friday and asked a searching examination of both documents be made with a view to establishing their credibility as evidence, their authenticity and the similarity or dissimilarity of handwriting. His action virtually placed in the keeping of the jury's handwriting experts a solution of the mystery which began with the girl's disappearance June 8.

"INSANE OVER YOU"
The new exhibits epitomized the harried life the girl had lived in her last days — a time in which, seemingly, her mind was made up that death was inevitable.

"It's a great life," she wrote, "when one has twenty-four hours to live."
She continued:
"I don't have to dread living without even seeing you, hearing rumors such as the women all fall for him, and 'be entangled charmingly.' It's more than I can cope with — this feeling I have for you."

"The words love, adore, worship, have become meaningless. There is nothing I can do but what I am going to do."
And in another place she wrote:
"I am mad and insane over you. I hold my breath to try to stand it."

YOUR BABY and MINE

Mrs. Edred will be glad to answer any questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

RELIEF BOTTLES MAKE RECREATION FOR MOTHER POSSIBLE

In the summer season the urge to "go places" is an irresistible impulse. For its perfect enjoyment the nursing mother must be able to absent herself for at least eight hours without the dire possibility of her baby's starving in that period. The desirability and the usefulness of relief bottles loom large in hot weather.

Relief bottles are substitute feedings designed for occasional use. To substitute a feeding regularly for a nursing really begins the weaning process and diminishes the flow of breast milk. Obviously, the mother does not want to do that.

The formulas for these occasional bottles are usually simple ones. All milk should be boiled. Boiled milk is easier to digest and therefore offers no unusual strain on the child's digestion, and it is the safest milk in the summer season.

SIMPLE DIRECTIONS
Milk should not be too rich. Mother's milk which has too large a proportion of cream is a burden to the child, so too rich cows milk provides an even greater burden. Cool, boiled water and a small amount of sugar render the new kind of food easier to digest, more nutritious because of the sugar, and in taste more nearly like the food to which baby is accustomed.

In each relief bottle the four-month-old baby is capable of taking from six to six and one-half ounces of a mixture that is about four ounces of milk, two or two and one-half ounces of boiled water, and one level teaspoon of sugar.

The five-month-old child can take take drug in the hope of waking happier—but that homesick feeling never leaves me. I have a feeling of peace now that I know it soon will be over."

Many Guests At Chapter's Garden Party Yesterday

Considerable stimulus was given to the benevolent work of the Sir Matthew Baillie Begbie Chapter, I.O.D.E., by its garden party held yesterday afternoon at home of Mrs. R. W. Mayhew, Beach Drive. Mrs. T. B. Myers, the regent, welcomed the many guests on arrival, together with the hostess. Between showers the visitors enjoyed the garden with their beautiful view of the sea and mountains.

Among the featured attractions were the charming dances performed on the lawn by the young pupils of Miss Fowles.

Mrs. Horace Hamlet had charge of the tea arrangements, assisted by Mesdames Hewitt, Osborne, Hardie, Flack and Moore, while Mrs. E. H. Pooley, Mrs. C. S. Wilkie, Mrs. Durand, Mrs. M. G. Moore and Mrs. J. S. H. Matson, Mrs. F. Pooley and Miss Alice Pooley were also guests for the occasion. Following the luncheon party, the members of the club assembled at the home of Mrs. Gore, Beach Drive, for their weekly game of bridge.

Mrs. Jutson Fisher, Mrs. E. F. Laycock and Mrs. David Dole will represent the Victoria branch of the Overseas League at the twenty-first anniversary banquet of the league, to be held in the Albert Hall, London, on July 3, at which the Prince of Wales will be the guest of honor. The banquet was originally planned for the Dorchester Hotel, but so large was the demand for tickets that it has been found necessary to secure the Albert Hall to accommodate the huge throng.

Miss Margaret Gray will leave on Friday morning for Vancouver, en route for Montreal, where she will represent the Victoria Business and Professional Women's club at the annual meeting of the Canadian Federation. Miss Gray will also represent the club at the meeting of the U.S. Federation of Business and Professional Women, to be held in Richmond, Virginia, following the Canadian meeting.

GANGWAY FOR MCGILL RUGBY TEAM

CONNIE MACK TRADED FRANK FROM THE A'S TO A MINOR LEAGUE CLUB WHEN FRANK CRACKED UP HIS ARM

GANGWAY FOR MCGILL

WHEN FRANK SHAUGHNESSY TAKES OVER THE COACHING DUTIES AGAIN

Montreal has fitted another cog into its great sport programme this year.

Frank Shaughnessy has returned to the McGill athletic board. This fall, with Frank Shaughnessy of McGill, will be found Dr. Harry Hobbs of Varsity and Alex Ponton of Balm Beach.

The return of Frank means a new lease of life and a formidable machine from the red and white college of Montreal in the intercollegiate series this fall.

Among the interesting features of Shaughnessy's return is that it brings to light the story of his leaving in 1927. It seems that he left McGill at his own request, not at the decision of the athletic board, McGill apparently had contract with him and they could have retained him until the close of the season of 1927. However, Shaughnessy asked for a release and got it. As a result, Shaughnessy owes the university another year of his services, and that year will be paid off this season, although it is said that he is going back at a lower figure than he was offered by the Montreal Football Club.

Shaughnessy has had a varied sporting career. Starting out as a football player over the border, he has also been a minor league and major league baseball player and manager. He has coached for the Detroit Tigers and was manager of several minor league clubs. He spent years coaching football teams. Probably there will be a few that will remember that he was once traded by Connie Mack for Frank "Home-run" Baker, who was, by the way, the Babe Ruth of those days. In 1909, Shaughnessy was on the line-up of the old athletes. That was just before

New York Jewish Heavyweight Wrestler Makes Debut Here on Saturday

Tillicum Club Officials Arrange Boxing Card With H.M.S. Dragon Fighters

Saturday night's wrestling card at the Tillicum gymnasium will bring together Bob Kruse, Portland heavyweight, and Abe Caplan, Jewish wrestler from New York, in the main event. The big fellows are scheduled to step eight ten-minute rounds. In the five-round semi-windup "Rocky" Brooks, Victoria, has been matched with Al Dawson.

Caplan, who is a recent arrival from the east, has a first-class reputation. Kruse needs no reference, although opinions differ on his methods he always puts up a good bout and is one of the toughest men in the Pacific Northwest to beat.

Brooks will make his reappearance in a local ring after an absence of several weeks. The local grappler has engaged in a number of bouts in other cities and has been doing very well. Dawson is an unknown but is expected to give "Rocky" a tough time.

The first bout will commence at 8.45 o'clock.

Officials of the Tillicum Club announced yesterday evening they had arranged a boxing card for July 1 at the Tillicum gym between five fighters from H.M.S. Dragon and a like number of first-class boys from Vancouver.

Three six-round and two four-round bouts will be put on. The cruiser-weights to have a clever bunch of scrappers and the local promoters are arranging to bring some classy opponents for the test.

Connie Mack flashed his new $100,000 infield. At this particular time the Mackmen were not doing so very well. During a cold series in Chicago, Shaughnessy made a long loss from centre field to the home plate. As he did this, his arm was cold and something snapped, and incidentally wrote him to his horse-hide career. At the close of that season Connie Mack made efforts to strengthen his team, and Baker was then playing a bang-up game for the Reading Club of the International League. Connie then made an offer for Baker with Shaughnessy and some cash attached, and the Reading outfit snapped at the deal. Frank Shaughnessy always seems to get a great kick out of claiming that the Babe Ruth of those days. In 1909, Mack ever put through.

THREE PROS BATTLE FOR LONE BERTH

Burke's score of 289 was four strokes better than that turned in by Bobby Jones over the same course back in 1924 when he won the United States open championship.

At the end of eighteen holes to-day the low scorer will be placed on the team. If there is a tie an additional eighteen holes will be played.

Cinci was the most consistent performer of the trio during the two days' play. He put together rounds of 75-76-76-78. One bad round, the first yesterday morning, forced Shute into the playoffs. Monday he turned in a pair of 74's, but yesterday morning he skidded to a 78 and finished with a 75. Walsh had two bad rounds, carding a 72, 77, 79 and a 74.

FOODS AND HOT DAY FATIGUE

Most persons are easily fatigued on hot days. So common is this experience that we think it natural. But it is not. A properly fed person will be just as alert mentally and physically on hot days as on cool days. It is acid residues in the blood from eating acid-forming foods that cause hot weather tiredness. Foods that alkalize and vitalize the blood and body cells keep one "in the pink" on the hottest days.

Roman Meal is the only alkaline cereal or grain food. It should be the grain food of choice for cereals, breads and cakes, especially during hot days. It can be eaten uncooked or icy-cold, recipe for both on package. Hot or cold, cooked or uncooked, it alkalizes the blood and pepes one up on hot days. Milk, vegetables and fruits also alkalize and should be freely used with Roman Meal in summer to build up resistance against winter strains and diseases. THE BOXER THAT KAYO'D HIMSELF

"THE FIGHTER THAT KAYO'D HIMSELF"

Here's one for the little red book of boxing. Ever since the epidemic of fouls in the square ring became part of the game of boxing, strange things and happenings have been seen in the ring. Mr. John Public is finally fed up on fluke bouts, but here's one that is just a little too funny to pass over. Not so very long ago Worcester, Mass., staged a bang-up boxing card and the local boy or town favorite, Lou Petrone, a young junior welter, was giving Andy Callahan of Lawrence, the New England champion, plenty to think about on the receiving end of the match until the sixth round when all of a sudden the local idol hit. Immediately the ring-side was in uproar, doctors were summoned and after an examination it was discovered that Petrone had swallowed his mouthpiece. The judges were summoned and after a short huddle Callahan was awarded the bout on a technical knockout.

The RECORD SPEAKS for ITSELF

THOUSANDS upon thousands of miles—over mountain ranges and storm-tossed seas—under sunny skies and through misty banks of clouds—these are the trials of those who would establish air supremacy.

In a cigarette, quality is the deciding factor—and Turret's long established record grows more impressive year by year.

After all, nothing can replace good, honest tobacco; grown and ripened right out in the field under nature's own sunlight—nothing artificial about that—and the high quality is "inbred."

New Teeth For Dairy Industry Act

Ottawa, June 24—Increased pen- alties for adulteration of dairy prod- uce were approved by the Commons com- mittee on agriculture yesterday when that body recommended the bill spon- sored by Samuel Gobeil, Conservative, Compton, Que., to amend the Dairy In- dustry Act.

The amendment raises the penalty for a first offence violation of the act in connection with adulteration of dairy produce, from a fine not exceed- ing $400 to one of $1,000. The mini- mum also being jumped from $200 to $500. Second offences would carry penalties double those for first offences, while for third and subsequent of- fences imprisonment for six months with hard labour would be the penalty.

OAK BAY HIGH SCHOOL ISSUES "THE CRANMORE"

Annual Magazine Gives Re- view of Activities of Year

Principal G. M. Billings Con- tributes Advice to Graduates in Foreword

The second annual issue of The Cranmore, the annual magazine of Oak Bay High School, presents a compre- hensive review of the activities of the school throughout the year now closing, and features the matriculating classes now graduating.

The magazine is attractively printed on fine art paper. Many photographs and sketches are included, the cuts having been made by the engraving department of The Victoria Daily Times. The editorial staff includes Kenneth Stevens, editor; Evelyn Lytton, Deslee Seale, Jack Moloney and Ivan Red- mayne, assistant editors; Doreen McGregor, John Monteith and Carey Hubert, advertising managers; Milford Loughheed and Henry MacLachlan, business managers and F. Lister, staff advisor.

G. M. Billings, principal, has contrib- uted the following foreword: "It is my privilege at this time to offer a message to those of us for whom the end of this school year will mark the close of high school life. To the teacher this is an ever-recurring time of loss, of parting from those who during their years of growth through childhood, have been his close associates and, let us hope, his friends; whose welfare has been his care.

For more than a quarter of a cen- tury it has been my lot each year to meet this parting, and each year has impressed its lessons more deeply. Let this be a token of the sincerity of my message, which is plain and direct, as I feel it should be, and in words as simple as I can choose.

"First, you must know the point you have reached. You are so far from having completed your education—even though you may hold the Junior Matriculation Certificate firmly grasped to your bosom—that your education has only just begun. An examination certificate does no more than record your success in gaining marks by answering questions on work it was your duty to do; an important docu- ment as evidence of accomplishment, in a strictly limited sense, and valuable for a short time as a card of admis- sion; but the best it can do for you is to secure for you an opportunity, MORE THAN A CERTIFICATE.

"You must leave school with more than a certificate. Your education, which began when you were born, will continue to the end of your life. The part which has just ended is drawn from the environment of home and the school; you have been sheltered and protected; you have been surrounded by helpers, guides, and those whose particular care it has been to watch over you; the very rules and restric- tions which you have found so irksome have protected you.

"You may not like to be told this, it may hurt your pride, but it is true: you will be the wholesaler of your own life. But you can swallow this. Through all this period—which has seemed so long to you—you have been growing and developing, phys- ically, mentally, morally. Has it ever occurred to you that the nearer you have approached the time of leav- ing school, the less you have been sub- jected to restraint, and the more you have been expected to choose for yourself the course you should take?

"If it has, and I feel sure that it has, then take this thought and—just for this special occasion—reflect on it and on your school life—work back right through your school days, think of your own part and of the parts played by those of your school-fellows and associates who pass before your mind as you reflect. If you do this as I want you to do, and give free rein to your thoughts, you will leave school with your memory enriched by a profit- able store.

"When you leave school your life in school is at an end, it is true, but your school will be with you to the end of your days; for, be assured, throughout the rest of your life, when in fear, pain or sorrow, in time of crisis or of supreme effort, it is the influences of your childhood days, of your home and of your school that will give you strength and guidance.

SCHOOL IS A COMMUNITY

"School is a community, a little world, in which you and others have played your part. Everything about you, your work, your play, your associ- ations, the influences brought to bear on you, the examples you are encour- aged to follow, the suggestions made to you, the difficulties put in your way, the very school itself and its sur- roundings, all have been there for one supreme purpose—the formation and strengthening of your character. RESOLUTIONS ON THE BUDGET ARE BEING CHANGED

Ottawa, June 24—It is expected budget resolutions will come up in the Commons to-morrow.

There is interest as to what amend- ments will be made in the resolutions. It is understood a number of difficul- ties have developed in the actual work- ings of the tax changes brought in by the budget. In addition to the changes in connection with the collection of the sales tax, the government has been appealed to from many sources asking that the list of articles exempted from the sales tax be increased. The budget cancelled the old list of exemptions and substituted a new one much more re- stricted. Premier R. B. Bennett yester- day stated there would be some changes in this connection, and it is understood they will be quite extensive.

Some alterations in the tariff resolu- tions are also understood to be engag- ing the attention of Mr. Bennett, Hon. E. B. Ryckman, Minister of National Revenue, and the tariff experts of the government.

NEWS IN BRIEF

The Victoria Kinsman Club yesterday appointed E. B. Corby, president, as its delegate to the national convention to be held in Calgary next month.

At the garden party held yesterday under the auspices of the Sir Matthew Baillie Begbie Chapter, I.O.D.E., the prize for clock golf was won by Mrs. J. W. Jones. Other prizes were won as follows: Plant, Mrs. J. H. Gillespie; cake, Miss Agnes Bell; and bridge set, Mrs. Osborne.

The new textbooks will be used in British Columbia technical schools next fall, respectively dealing with design for industrial arts, metal working and printing and lettering. The volumes have been compiled by John Kyle, supervisor of technical education, and are now being printed in Toronto. The books will replace textbooks of United States origin.

D. Flintoff and F. Williams yesterday evening gave an illustrated address upon education by motion pictures before the Canadian home products group of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. Pictures were shown of island logging operations and the conversion of logs into finished products. Mr. Flintoff expressed the opinion that such films would be shown in every school in Canada within a few years.

The judging of the gardens entered in the June competition which is being conducted by the Victoria Horticultural Society is expected to take place this week-end. Nearly fifty gardens have been entered in this new series and keen competition is expected. Anyone whose garden was not advanced sufficiently to participate in the June class may enter for the following three months. Particulars may be obtained from the secretary of the society.

Convinced that the farmers of British Columbia have not suffered as severely from the depression as have residents in the cities, Hon. William Atkinson, Minister of Agriculture, has returned from a tour of the Interior, during which he attended four district institute conventions. He reports a widespread trend towards mixed farming, which he believes will become dominant in the agriculture of the Province.

"Aims and Objects of the Moose Service" was the topic of an address by E. A. Kallen, deputy supreme secretary of the Loyal Order of Moose, before a gathering in the K. of C. Hall. Mr. Kallen described the Child City of Mooseheart, Illinois, and Moosehaven in Florida, where elderly people are cared for. The Moose charity service, he said, cared for 4,000 dependent children in their own homes. Charles E. Copeland, newly-elected northwest president of Moose, and Senior Regent Mrs. Hatcher, on behalf of the women of Mooseheart Legion, also spoke. A. P. Dunnet presided.

JOHN CURRIE IS DEAD AT DUNCAN

Special to The Times

Duncan, June 24.—John Currie passed away at the King's Daughters Hospital, Duncan, early Monday morning.

He was born in Scotland in August, 1873, and has been in the Duncan district, living on Cowichan Lake Road for the last forty-two years. The funeral took place today from R. H. Whilden's funeral parlors, Rev. E. M. Rollo officiating. The late Mr. Currie was buried in the family plot on the old home farm on Cowichan Lake Road. He leaves one sister, Mrs. Goulding of Vancouver.

MILK PRICES TOO HIGH AT PORT ALBERNI

Port Alberni, June 24.—During a discussion of the City Council meeting held in the City Hall Monday evening on the subject of the inspection of dairies supplying milk within the city, Alderman Turner raised the question of the price of milk which was, he inferred, comparatively high in comparison with the Fraser Valley and other districts where the cost of production was no higher.

The government inspectors' reports are to be furnished the council and further information obtained. Tenders for the building of a steel trestle were received from the Port Alberni Marine Railway for $3,250, and $2,850 from Messrs. Bacon and Watson. The tenders were referred to the fire, water and light committee for consideration and report.

Routine matters occupied the council for the rest of the session.

Crew At Work On New C.N.R. Trestle Bridge

Lake Cowichan, June 24.—A crew is still at work on the C.N.R. trestle bridge, which is being practically rebuilt.

Badminton is still an attractive sport here, the members of the club playing twice a week at the Community Hall. A most enjoyable dance was held at the Cowichan Lake Logging Company's Camp 6, at the head of the lake, Saturday night. The Minnie three-piece orchestra, from Victoria, played the dance music. Dancing was kept up until 4 a.m.

Fishing is very fair at present on river and lake.

Campaign On By-laws Draws Civic Interest

Three More Meetings Scheduled This Week as Voting Day Approaches

Alderman W. T. Straith Answers Criticisms of Opponents

With less than a week left before balloting takes place, the campaign on the three civic money by-laws, of which the Gordon Head airport measure is the most important, has reached unusual intensity and a large vote on the by-laws is practically certain.

Following a series of attacks on the measures by speakers at meetings under the auspices of the Ratepayers' Association, Alderman W. T. Straith, chairman of the industrial committee of the City Council, has replied to several criticisms advanced by opponents of the airport.

This evening the Ratepayers' Association will hold a meeting at the Chamber of Commerce on the subject of the airport. The speaker will be Mr. H. H. Higgins, R.C., who has been one of the most active opponents of the by-laws. Mr. Higgins said that the three money by-laws would increase the per capita debt of the city from $217.62 to $292.62, or 35 per cent.

Mr. Straith said: "I might inform Mr. Higgins that it would require an increase of $3,250,000 in our debt to build the airport. The cost of the by-laws is only $129. When Mr. Higgins said our debt would be increased 35 per cent, he was mistaken. It is only $73.71; he should have said $1.29."

Mr. Straith claimed Mr. Higgins was quoting twenty-year-old valuations when he criticized the cost of airport property. Answering Mrs. McGregor, Mr. Straith offered to give dollar for dollar any city charge for every dishonest dollar that is in the city. "Mr. Higgins also is reported to have stated that he had a suspicion of recent profits, and the same offer holds good with him," Mr. Straith said.

SAYS WILLIAMS SHOULD KNOW

"Some statements of Alderman Williams are also surprising, because he is a member of the industrial committee which has had charge of airport matters, and he, above all people, should know the correct information should have made sure of his facts before making erroneous statements," Mr. Straith remarked.

"He stated at one meeting that the property which we are purchasing is mortgaged, and later he corrected himself to the extent that he said that half of it was mortgaged. His statement is still untrue. I have quite thoroughly searched the titles to all the properties which are being purchased, and a very small percentage of the property is mortgaged."

He stated that the work which the project would give toward relieving unemployment and the revenue producing possibilities of the airport.

NO PREFERENCE CRY IS NOT BAR TO B.C. LUMBER

Reform Party of New Zealand Influenced Retaliation, A. W. Steele Says

Butter Shippers Were Beginning to Balance Things When Duty Shut Off Trade

B.C. lumber will continue to remain on the preference list of New Zealand despite the fact that the Forbes government has wiped all other Canadian products from its state. This is the conviction of A. W. Steele, retired businessman of Russell, 180 miles from Auckland, N.Z., who left the city yesterday afternoon for Vancouver after spending several days as a guest at the Empress Hotel.

Mr. Steele, who is eighty years of age, crossed the equator with his wife to spend a vacation with their son and grandchildren in Vancouver, coming to Victoria after making a trip to Alaska on the St. Prince Henry.

As a New Zealander, Mr. Steele was greatly interested in the news from Wellington, which quoted Premier George W. Forbes as stating that New Zealand had stopped buying from Canada because this country had refused to purchase its butter.

COATES OFFERED HELP

It is the belief of Mr. Steele that the Reform Party led by former Premier Joseph G. Coates, is responsible for the striking of Canada from the preference list of New Zealand.

The labor party has in the past been aligned with the Forbes government, offsetting the majority of the Reform Party. But when the Forbes government announced its all-round reduction of 10 per cent in wages recently the Labor leaders showed their displeasure by withdrawing support from the government.

The Reform Party expressed its willingness to help the government, and Premier Forbes decided that he was ready to accept the proffered help, said Mr. Steele. The help of the Reform Party, however, was contingent upon the policy of the Liberal Party, or Unionist Party, as it is now known, not conflicting with the principles championed by the Reform group.

"There is a strong section of opinion in New Zealand taking the view that the Forbes government had not so far as it should have done," said Mr. Steele, in discussing upon the retaliatory measures adopted by New Zealand against Canada.

BUILDERS WOULD SQUEAL

"In any event there will be no prohibitive tariff on lumber from British Columbia. If this were done there would immediately be a quest from the building trades. We have no kiln-dried lumber in our country, and the Douglas fir of B.C. is necessary for construction purposes."

The New Zealanders on the whole are very "amiable" about the 8-cent duty which the Bennett government slapped on their butter, Mr. Steele observed.

"The balance of trade between the two countries has always been in favor of Canada," he went on. "It has been a one-horse show for a long time, and we were beginning to balance things with our butter, when Canada summarily stopped buying our staple dairy product. The New Zealanders have no grudge, but their only weapon lay in retaliatory measures, and I take it that Canada has no reason to resent the attitude of the Forbes administration."

Having had an opportunity to study the situation during his stay in this country, Mr. Steele remarked that the impact of a duty of 8 cents a pound on New Zealand butter has apparently not helped the Canadian butter producer when considered from the angle of market quotations. The results are as follows:

To-day's Grain Markets

WINNIPEG

(By Logan & Bryan)
Winnipeg, June 24.—Wheat—Wheat was decidedly strong to-day and after being fractionally higher during the first period the prices gradually worked higher until they were 1½¢ above the close of Tuesday. October futures touched 62¢ but there was a lot of wheat for sale at this figure and the market eased off slightly. Offerings coming from long, both from commission houses and direct from around 63.

The feature was the strength in Liverpool and a bullish stock market. Sharp gains being secured in practically all leading issues. Canadian interests were buying their own wheat and Winnipeg naturally followed the advance. Seaboard and export houses bought moderately during the first part of the day and seaboard reported sales of 500,000 bushels, mostly Manitoba.

The all-around strength was apparently based on the news that the French government had accepted President Hoover's plan for a one-year moratorium on war debt. However, the French acceptance was made with some reservations, which probably will be overcome. There was a fair inquiry for cash wheat with a spread unchanged to ½¢ better for old grades. Holders are firm in their views and were not offering freely. There was no change in the flour situation.

The Murray case investigation by the William commission appointed by the Manitoba Government found that the Manitoba pool elevators, a subsidiary of the Manitoba Pool, had recklessly expended farmers' money through high pressure propaganda and had maliciously spread rumors of degrading and underweighting. The report was published to-day, the pool being found guilty on three out of the four charges.

The commission also found that pool members had been inveigled into building expensive elevators. The charge that the pool could have sold to better advantage was proved. The Manitoba government is now considering what action to take with regard to the elevators as they hold them as security against the bank guarantees.

There is a change in sentiment toward wheat and in fact all commodities and it would not be surprising to see world prices gradually work to higher levels. Winnipeg close 1 to ½¢ up.

Liverpool due ½ to ½¢ higher, based on Winnipeg.

Robert spoke a little impatiently, down there. I don't know whether I'm obliged to you, Aggy, for your care of my girl, but Roberta has always found her own way out of any tangle and I think we're safe to trust her now. If I find she's really unhappy here I'll take her away but—well, she doesn't look unhappy to-night."

"No," admitted her sister with a little jerk of her firm chin—for what was the use of trying to show a man who could not see? "She does not, but looks no nothing."

As she walked away from him, Roberta had to admit to himself that Aggy had brains as well as a presence and was a fine woman for her age.

Roberta saw her aunt bearing down upon her now, and for one moment she thought she was coming to protest about the dance.

But Lady Sanderson had no such idea. "Roberta," she said, and for all her presence she was a little nervous—one never knew just how Roberta would receive a suggestion. "Do you think you could start them toward the supper-room after the next dance?"

"Easiest thing you know, Aunt Aggy," Roberta told her gaily. "I can't promise anything."

Roberta told him. "I tell you one thing—the man who takes me over to the musicians and delivers the message has the rest of the dance."

"Done," Sir George's voice said, and towering over Roger, he gently replaced him as her partner.

Utterly ignoring another youth who tried to cut in, he had Roberta swiftly over by the musicians and gave her message to the leader.

"What on earth did you do that for?" she asked indignantly. "You don't want to dance with me?"

"Not just now," he frankly admitted, "though later on I'll enjoy it very much, thank you." Then as they went toward the steps of the terrace, he said softly, "I thought you might want to go with me down to the little landing place?"

"Why?"

"I think you'll see why if you go frantic whisper. "What did you bring him for?"

"I didn't," the girl protested. "I didn't know you were here until he told me."

"Then go back," the voice hissed. "Tell him anything about me and it's the last you see of me."

The canoe moved off and slowly the girl retraced her steps to where, just out of hearing, Sir George stood. The cigarette dropped unlit from his hand in his astonishment. The man was afraid of him. He was someone who knew him. There he'd been and danger yet for the girl, and that bullet had surely been meant for him!

She came up to him and looked at him. For a moment they faced each other without a word. Then without a word or a look, Roberta turned and went toward the house. Sir George quickened his step and, side by side, in so mortal an enemy that it held them together as tongue-tied as a pair of lovers, they went up the terrace steps.

Roger Dunham and May Browne met Roberta on the terrace and after a little good-natured argument she finally went away with Ray.

Sir George went to the edge of the terrace and stood looking out toward the river, waiting for dark. Little spot that would be a canoe. But the fellow must have made quick time, for there was no sign of any canoe. On the mainland a car flashed lights on and went speeding down the river. He had not seen the signal Roberta had given as she turned and fled from the landing, and even if he had seen it he would not have known it meant, "Wait for me."

What would the girl do, Sir George wondered, now that she knew he was aware of this man? What game was she playing that was worth such a stake?

The secretary re-entered the library. "How much did the doctor say you might eat with impunity to-night?" he asked his employer.

Robert MacBeth rolled a sarcastic eye at his secretary. "A cup of soup and some crackers," he said with a grimace. "August is coming presently to make me comfortable and then he'll send a waiter here."

"August can't make you nearly as comfortable as I can," Sir George answered confidently and proceeded to do it. Never, Robert MacBeth admitted, had he been made so comfortable.

My word, you have gentle hands for a big fellow," he exclaimed, looking up with gratitude at the tall form that bent over him to straighten a pillow.

"Plenty of practice," Robert MacBeth checked himself when he started to say "Where?" He remembered that this tall, slim young man before him had been through a dreadful novitiate during the great war. "Why," he asked after a moment, as George moved to ring for the waiter, "why do you so determinedly avoid rich girls? Seriously, isn't that what you drew here for—to make a rich marriage?"

"That's what I must think about," grunted the fat pig, who was now almost as jolly as Uncle Wiggly himself. Of course, Mr. Twisytall was sorry because the rabbit had fallen into the well, but it is better to be jolly and help someone out of trouble than to be sad and not help them.

Some of you may be wondering how it happened that Uncle Wiggly got in the well before I tell you how he got out. It was this way: The rabbit and the pig were out in the woods. They had some sweet grapes hanging from a tree and the pig was eating them. Then the two friends broke off long, trailing pieces of vine to take home and make a stew. And all of a sudden the rabbit wiggly stepped on some leaves that covered the well hole and he fell down.

"Are you sure you aren't all wet down there in that well?" asked Mr. Twisytall, leaning over to talk down the hole, which, as I told you, was like a tunnel standing on its head.

"No, I'm not wet," said Uncle Wiggly. "This is a dry well—a very old one."

"That's good," grunted the pig. "Now I must think about how I am to get you up out of the well. There isn't a ladder down there, by any chance, is there?"

"No ladder," Uncle Wiggly answered. "If there was," he went on with a laugh, "I could climb up by myself."

"That's so!" agreed Mr. Twisytall, more than a little amused. "Very silly of me. But what is that light down at the bottom of the well?" he went on, leaning over and looking down again.

"That's my pink nose twinkling," said Uncle Wiggly, laughing.

"Oh, so it is! I should have thought of that! Silly of me!" grunted the fat pig. "I've so dark down at the bottom of the well that I can see your pink nose like a light, quite plain. But is there a stairway in that well, Wiggly?"

"A stairway?" cried the rabbit. "Certainly not! If there were stairs here I would walk up them and you wouldn't have to pull me out. Who ever heard of a stairway in a well?"

"They have them in fairy stories," said the jolly fat pig, taking the kink out of his tail.

"But this isn't a fairy story," spoke Mr. Longears. "And if I am ever to get out of this well you had better think of some way to pull me up, if you please."

"I'll have it!" all of a sudden cried Mr. Twisytall at the top of the well. He dashed and capered about so happy that he nearly fell in the well himself.

"Don't do that! Don't do that!" warned the rabbit down on the bottom as he felt some dried leaves and little pieces of dirt and stone toppling on his nose. "Don't you come falling in on top of me, Twisytall! Can't you get a rope, lower the end to me and pull me up?"

"I don't need to get a rope!" grunted the pig.

"Why not?" asked the rabbit.

"Because I have the long pieces of grapevine we are going to use for swinging ropes," answered the pig. "I'll tie the two wild grapevines together and lower one end down to you. Take hold of it and I'll pull you out of the well!"

"Oh, fine!" cried Uncle Wiggly. "But

BEDTIME STORY Getting Uncle Wiggly Out

(Copyright, 1931, by Howard R. Garis)

"Just a minute now! Just a minute!" grunted Mr. Twisytall, the fat pig. "I've got to think this thing out. Don't go away!"

"No, I'm not very likely to go away—not as long as I'm down deep in this well," spoke the voice of Mr. Longears. "I've got to think this thing out. Don't go away!"

"No, I'm not very likely to go away—not as long as I'm down deep in this well," spoke the voice of Mr. Longears. "I've got to think this thing out. Don't go away!"

"That's what I must think about," grunted the fat pig, who was now almost as jolly as Uncle Wiggly himself. Of course, Mr. Twisytall was sorry because the rabbit had fallen into the well, but it is better to be jolly and help someone out of trouble than to be sad and not help them.

He lowered the grapevine

"Are you sure you aren't all wet down there in that well?" asked Mr. Twisytall, leaning over to talk down the hole, which, as I told you, was like a tunnel standing on its head.

"No, I'm not wet," said Uncle Wiggly. "This is a dry well—a very old one."

"That's good," grunted the pig. "Now I must think about how I am to get you up out of the well. There isn't a ladder down there, by any chance, is there?"

"No ladder," Uncle Wiggly answered. "If there was," he went on with a laugh, "I could climb up by myself."

"That's so!" agreed Mr. Twisytall, more than a little amused. "Very silly of me. But what is that light down at the bottom of the well?" he went on, leaning over and looking down again.

SMITH TO HEAD KEATING HIGH

Saanich Trustees Appoint A. G. Smith, M.A., and A. Bailey, B.A., as Principals

A. G. Smith, M.A., who was principal of Victoria High School several years ago, will be the principal of the new Keating High School being erected by the school board yesterday evening. Mr. Smith has been principal of the North Saanich High School for several years, and was previously connected with one of the city's commercial schools.

Albert Bailey, B.A., will be the principal of the new high school on Cedar Hill Road, which will serve Gordon Head and the southeastern portion of Saanich. Mr. Bailey has been a member of the Saanich High School staff since the school was established two years ago. He is a native son of Victoria, and was on the staff of Nanaimo High School before joining Saanich. He is a specialist in history, literature and English, and will also take the French course.

Hubert Savage, A.R.I.B.A., architect, reported good progress being made by contractors in the erection of both schools. He also presented the rough plans for the large school to be erected on Carey Road. Much work must be done before bids can be called on this work.

Must Eschew Fish And Chips Business Here

Arthur Longden, former partner of Harry A. Farmer in the London Fish Grill, 1325 Government Street, will not be able to carry on the business of the Yorkshire Fish and Chips, Yates Street, under his own management. Mr. Farmer by Mr. Justice Gregory in the Supreme Court.

On the stand, Mr. Farmer in reply to questions from his counsel, P. J. Sinnott, testified that he had paid Mr. Longden $10,000 last year when he withdrew from the partnership on an agreement that he would keep out of the fish and chips business in Victoria or within ten miles of Victoria for ten years, explaining that the fish and chips business here was limited and there was not much profit in it.

Mr. Longden, questioned on the stand by C. L. Harrison, his counsel, said that the Yorkshire Fish and Chips was carried on by his wife and he was working for her.

The judge said Mr. Longden and his wife were perfectly well. He had no right to do this and ruled that the presence of Mr. Longden about the fish and chips place with an apron on established in his mind the fact that he was privy to this business. He

C.N.R. BRANCH LINE

Ottawa, June 24.—Engineers of the Canadian National Railways have completed a survey of the proposed Nefeking cut-off in Manitoba and have made a report to the Minister of Railways and Canals. Sir Henry Thornton, president of the National road, yesterday so informed the special committee dealing with the C.N.R. Finance Committee. Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways, said he had not seen the report, nor was he aware of its recommendations, because it had been received by his department only a short time ago.

Drought Brings Feed Shortage For Prairie Livestock

Ottawa, June 24.—In west-central Manitoba and practically all of central and southern Saskatchewan, according to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics report to-day, early sown wheat has been forced prematurely into the short blade on a short stem. Crops are suffering throughout this entire area and in large districts have been damaged beyond recovery.

The drought has stopped new growth of pasture and hay and limited water supplies, so that a serious feed and livestock situation prevails in southern regions of Manitoba and Saskatchewan. Improved prospects are reported from northern Saskatchewan, and almost the entire province of Alberta, where heavy rains have fallen. The rains in Alberta were the heaviest in months, being particularly beneficial to the crops in the south, west centre and north, with only the east-central districts neglected. Growth has been generally rapid.

Are You Planning to Send Your Daughter to College?—Before You Do So, Why Not Consider Seriously Whether or Not She Is Going to Justify the Sacrifices You May Make for Her?

THIS is the season of the year when hundreds of thousands of parents are agonizing over the problem of whether they shall send Mamie or Sadie or Janie off to college or not. Of course, Mamie or Sadie or Janie wants to go because a lot of other girls she knows are going and because she considers it the swanky thing to do and because she wants to belong to a smart sorority and because she has heard glamorous tales of proms and strange boys and the perfectly grand times that you have especially at coed colleges where youths are as thick as the leaves in Vallambrosa.

And the parents, who most likely did not have much schooling themselves and who have the usual American fetish worship of formal education and who adore Mamie or Sadie or Janie, are anxious to give her every advantage, but to send her off to college will be at the expense of a great sacrifice of the entire family. Business hasn't been good in the grocery trade or the factory this last year. Salaries have been cut, and if Sadie or Mamie or Janie goes to college it will mean that father will have to work longer hours and so without the reaction that he so sadly needs and that he will have to wear his old overcoat another year. And mother will have to turn off the maid and do her own housework and cut the butcher's bill down to the bone and postpone the operation that might save her life and drop out of her clubs and the younger children will have to be denied every possible luxury and indulgence.

Now if Mamie or Sadie or Janie was an intellectual young woman with a high, knobby forehead and had an insatiable thirst for learning there would be justification for her parents working their fingers to the bone and denying themselves in order to give her every opportunity for the higher education. She may be a genius who will pay them back a thousandfold for their sacrifices. At any rate, they have opened the door of opportunity to her and have given her a chance at the intellectual life which she craves.

But ninety-nine times out of a hundred Mamie or Sadie or Janie is not a highbrow. She is just a common or garden variety of girl, with no intellectual yearning whatever. All she wants to do is to have a good time and get married. The dates she is interested in are not historical, but dates with boys. After she leaves school she will never read anything again but a sixth-best seller. And all the teachers in the world couldn't make an education really sink in on her. It would always roll off harmlessly off her as water off a duck's back.

This being the case, it does seem that sensible men and women might dispassionately consider whether it is worth while to impoverish themselves and work themselves to death sending off to college pretty little fluff-ruffles girls that anybody can see with half an eye are destined to espouse men and not careers and who could be much better prepared for the lives they are to lead by going into mother's kitchen or a business office than they are by going to college.

Certainly a college diploma is no help in getting a husband. Quite the contrary. Recently compiled statistics show that in England only twelve per cent of the women who take up medical work get married, while in this country the women who achieve high academic honors remain unmarried to the extent of eighty per cent. So, the more a woman is entitled to write M.A. after her name the less likely she is to be called Ma. And every woman, no matter what else she attains, finds life cinchers, ashes and dust unless it gives her love and husband and children.

It is folly to deny that men do not care for very highly educated women. They may not want Dumb Dora for wives, but assuredly they do not desire wives who know more than they do, and inasmuch as the great majority of American men go to work as soon as they finish high school and thereafter read little except the stock market and the comic strip, it is inevitable that they should prefer girls to whom they are oracles rather than those who look down upon them from the intellectual heights.

Nor does a college education fit a girl for being a wife and mother as well as the practical experience she would get at home or in business. She may have majored in chemistry, but that won't enable her to make bread that is light and fluffy. She may have taken a prize in mathematics, but that won't help her to get a hundred cents out of a dollar, as she would have learned to do had she earned her own living. Moreover, just because she is highly educated it is apt to make her discontented with domestic life and cause her to feel that she is wasting her time in washing baby bottles and cooking dinner for a mere husband.

All of which leads up to saying that it is foolish for parents to make sacrifices to send girls to college who are not college material. This view of the matter is borne out by Dean Alice Waite, of Wellesley College, who, after thirty-five years of experience in educating girls, advises young girls to consider themselves and their future seriously before they commit themselves to four years of academic work which may prove to be of small advantage to them.

"A girl should not enter college unless she has a definite taste for scholarship," says Dean Waite. "There are many fine junior colleges, vocational schools and finishing schools for girls who are not seriously interested in scholarly work, and often a girl shows more brains in staying away from college than she does in going to one."

All of which I commend to the serious consideration of the fathers and mothers who are considering drawing in their hunger belts a notch or two in order to send Mamie and Sadie and Janie off to college.

Mirrors and Funny Faces

Have you ever looked at yourself in the trick mirrors which are found at county fairs, amusement parks and elsewhere?

Faces on metal pitcher—not exactly compliments

If you have, these must have been at least one moment when you did not seem good-looking to yourself! The of yourself—but not a picture you would like to see published in a newspaper with your name below. The metal rim of an alarm clock will give your face a broad and chubby appearance. The surface of a metal pitcher will serve as another kind of magic mirror, and if the curving is just right you may find two images instead of one. In front of the pupil of each eye is a lens made by Nature. If these lenses were of a different shape, all things would look different to us. With the help of mirrors, a photographer can take half a dozen pictures of a person by one "snap" of the camera. While I was a college student, I had such a picture taken of myself on a post card. It looked as though six persons of similar appearance were seated together around a table. I mailed the postcard to my father, with the words: "See how quickly you can tell which man on the other side is your son." After careful study, he learned that he had six sons away at college instead of one! (Place this article in your scrapbook under either "Science" or "Magic Tricks.")
